

British Shoot First A-Bomb; Claim They Know Newest Tricks

PERTH, Australia (AP)—Britain exploded her first atomic weapon successfully today at the deserted Monte Bello Islands off Northwest Australia, a London newspaper said it gives Prime Minister Churchill the "trump" he needs to reopen exchange of atom secrets with the United States.

The "setting sun" flash and boiling atomic cloud, seen 65 and more miles away on the mainland, heralded Britain's "coming of age" as the third world power to possess a deadly atomic weapon. It was the world's 37th recorded atomic explosion.

Hidden In Secrecy
The United States has exploded 33 atomic weapons—two of them in World War II over Japan and the rest in tests—and so far as is known there have been three atomic explosions in Russia.

Dispatches received here at the state capital of Western Australia said the British weapon went off at 8 a.m. today (7 p.m., Thursday, EST). Deepest secrecy shrouded the nature of the weapon.

Reporters who saw the blast from a 3,000-foot lookout on the mainland, 65 miles from the center of the restricted test area, said the initial orange-red flash was far less intense than had been expected.

No Mushroom Shape
There was speculation that this was because British scientists had devised a new detonating trigger which did not require as much fissionable material.

The observers heard two distinct explosions—one presumably the priming charge and the second the main blast. A huge atomic cloud billowed up to 6,000 feet in the first minute and was at 12,000 feet four minutes later. It was not in the mushroom shape so familiar in pictures of American atomic explosions but boiled up into a ragged Z-shape at the top, and wide at the bottom.

With the roaring thunder of the blast came a heavy pressure of

House-Cleaning In Washington Urged By Taft

By REED SMITH
COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft said last night Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson, if elected president, would permit the greatest threat to this nation to continue. That threat was created by "stupidity and pro-Communist sympathies in the State Department," Taft asserted. He addressed a Republican rally that overflowed the 1,350 capacity of the Neil House hotel ballroom.

Threat Continues
The senator described Stevenson as "hand in glove" with President Truman and Secretary of State Dean Acheson on foreign policy. "At the end of the war, we stood at the height of power," Taft said. "Truman was the most wonderful man. But our people failed to understand the nature of communism. . . . Today we face the greatest threat ever—far greater than Hitler." He said "Stevenson would continue that threat."

But Taft said the Republican presidential nominee, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, would clean out the top level in the State Department, including Acheson. Taft said he would dwell more fully on foreign policy tonight in an address at a meeting of the Ohio federation of Republican Women's Organizations in the Neil House.

He will speak barely five blocks

Justice Department Moves To Deport 100 Hoodlums

Stevenson Rips Up Sen. Taft In His Home Town

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
CINCINNATI, O. (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson chose Robert A. Taft's home town today to accuse the Ohio senator and the Republican "Old Guard" of fostering a new isolationism that could lead to "national tragedy."

The Democratic presidential nominee said Republican candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower "is supporting all the isolationists in the party and asking their support."

"Terrible Consequences"

In an address prepared for a Democratic luncheon rally, Stevenson said the results could parallel those of the 1920 campaign when the League of Nations was an issue, Warren G. Harding was elected, and there were "terrible consequences in blood and disaster."

"The new isolationism," Stevenson said, "has put on some new clothes and uses some new words. But it is just as dangerous in 1952 as the old isolationism was in 1920. The new isolationists have stopped at nothing in their drive to control the party."

They have the money. They have the organization. And the Republican candidate seeks their support and bows to their demands.

"Maybe this is all very agreeable to the general and maybe this is a personal tragedy. I don't know; but I do know that it could also be a national tragedy—as it was in 1920."

Says Like Is In Fog

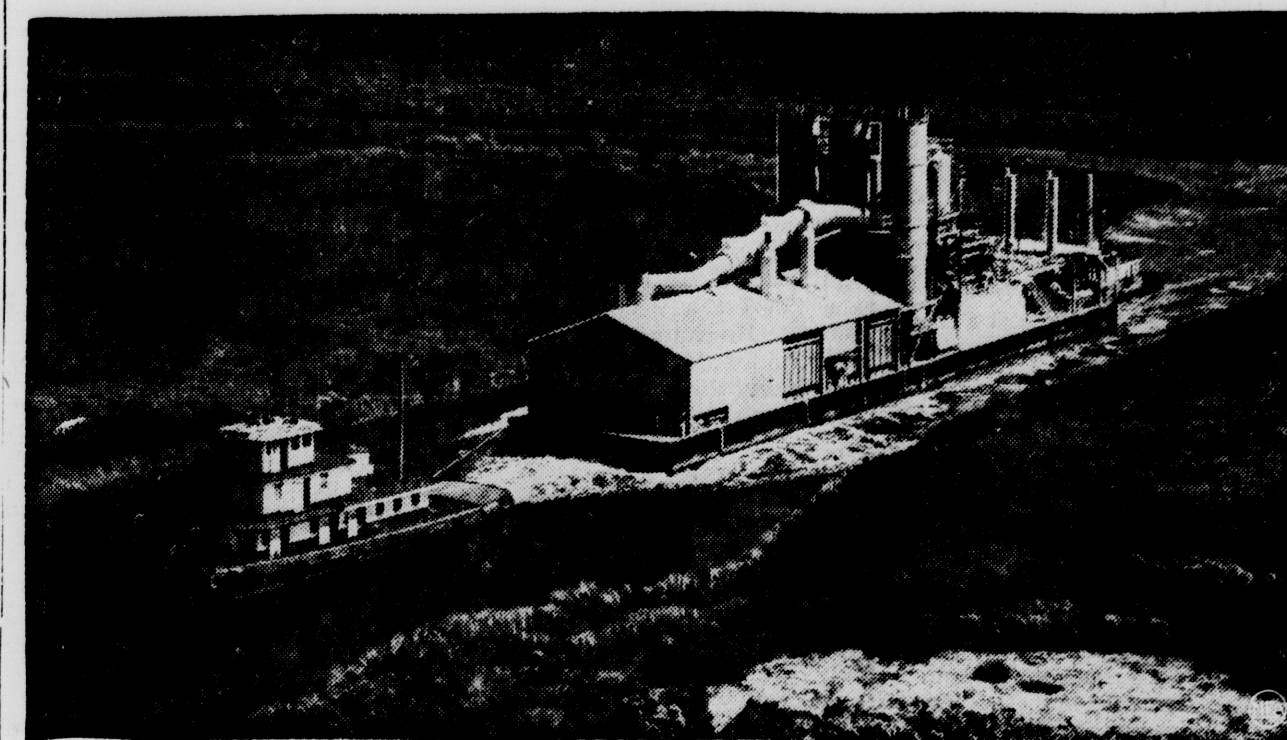

The Illinois governor fired away at Eisenhower as operating in a ghostly fog, as "not talking sense to the American people" in promising to cut taxes while strengthening our armed forces and our allies.

Over and over, Stevenson took back-handed slaps at Taft, through use of the old guard device, but he said that "at least you know where Sen. Taft stands and what he thinks about most things, which is more than I can say for the general."

Stevenson was making his first campaign appearance in Taft's own Ohio—a state with 25 key electoral votes that turned up in the Democratic column in 1948 by a margin of 7,000 popular votes out of almost three million cast.

His schedule called for visits and informal talks in Covington and Newport, Ky., in advance of

FLOATING MINING PLANT TAKES A TRIP
—One of the most remarkable accomplishments in the history of U. S. industry took place recently with the building and dramatic moving of the world's only floating sulphur mining plant 65 miles from Grande Ecaille, La., to Bay Ste. Elaine. The unique, $2,000,000 plant, built by the Freeport Sulphur Company to extract sulphur from a deposit hundreds of feet beneath Bay Ste. Elaine, will pour nearly 2,000,000 gallons of superheated water (325 degrees F.) into the deposit every 24 hours to melt the sulphur. At full operation, the plant is expected to produce 100,000 long tons of sulphur a year. Photo shows the plant, mounted on a huge steel barge, being towed through a narrow canal in the Louisiana marshland. Most difficult part of the trip was negotiating a 90-degree turn into Bayou Lafourche to get the unwieldy plant through a swing bridge at Levee.

Crime Leaders Of U. S. Marked For Expulsion

By JACK ADAMS
WASHINGTON (AP)—A Justice Department blueprint for deporting scores of underworld hoodlums, subversives and other undesirables was taken off the drawing boards today and put into action.

Some 100 such persons—according to an estimate by Atty. Gen. James P. McGranery—were ticketed for expulsion from the United States.

Back To Capone Days
McGranery told a news conference late yesterday that proceedings looking toward exclusion orders have been started in the past week against a half dozen "figures in the underworld and organized crime."

Some, he said, have records dating back to the bootleg era of the 1920s and the gangland days of Al Capone's Chicago mob.

His goal, McGranery said, is "to restore the dignity of citizenship" in the United States and strike at "the roots of organized crime in America."

Reds Also Covered
The program, McGranery said, also covers Communists who got American citizenship by fraudulent concealments, and "the unsavory characters who have continued to be aliens technically as well as in the broader sense."

Justice Department officials said that, in addition to the cases already inaugurated, including a proceeding to strip gambler Frank Costello of his citizenship and deport him, a large batch of other expulsion pickups are "in the works." Numerous additional arrests within the next few weeks were indicated.

In response to a question, McGranery disclaimed any political implications in his announced program. He said it was something he had had in mind for a long time—in some cases since before

Texas Governor Tells Why He's For Eisenhower

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Democratic Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas says he fears "Stevensonism" would be Trumanism with a Harvard accent" and that he will vote for Republican Dwight Eisenhower in November.

Shivers' last night joined Gov. James Byrnes of South Carolina and Gov. Robert Kennon of Louisiana in defection from the Democratic party ranks and open rebellion against the party presidential nominee.

Too Much Truman
Shivers gave as his primary reason for opening Gov. Adlai Stevenson:

"1. He is too closely associated with the Truman crowd to be able to 'clean up that mess in Washington.'"

"2. That association, and the obligations incurred during a hard campaign, would lead almost inevitably to a continuation of the bungling Acheson foreign policy, a continuation of Communist codding in high places, and other features of the corrupt Truman administration that have sickened the people of America."

Tidelands Sore Spot
"3. It would mean a continuation, if not, indeed, an acceleration, of the trend to the left that is carrying us swiftly toward socialism in man forms and guises."

"4. It would mean the retention and perhaps the expansion of the strange and disturbing 'paramount rights' doctrine under which Mr. Truman felt free to claim the Texas tidelands—a dangerous doctrine and a brazen action upon which Mr. Truman has already placed his stamp of approval."

Section Worker Killed By Train In Alger County

MARQUETTE (AP)—A railroad freight engine hit a section hands' track car east of Anota in Alger County today, killing one man and injuring five others.

Taito Pihlainen of Deerton was killed. A brother, Waino, also of Deerton, and a second man, Clifford Martin of Au Train, were seriously hurt.

The West bound Duluth South Shore & Atlantic engine hit the East bound section men's car at Mile Post No. 33, state police said. All the casualties were members of the section crew.

Others injured were Alfred Dallas, Peter Ellis and John Coleman, all of Au Train. None was reported seriously hurt.

Cantor In Hospital After Heart Attack

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Eddie Cantor continues to show improvement from his collapse from exhaustion and a slight heart attack Sunday.

The 60-year-old comedian has been forced to cancel a scheduled Oct. 26 telecast.

Cantor is expected to remain hospitalized for at least another 10 days. He is allowed no visitors, other than his family, and no telephone calls.

Tourist Council Asks $9,609

LANSING (AP)—The State Tourist Council will ask the legislature for an extra $9,609 for the next fiscal year. Executive Secretary Robert J. Furlong reported today. The total request is $385,609. The money is used for promotion of the Michigan tourist industry.

Communism Given Setback In Japan

By WILLIAM JORDAN
TOKYO (AP)—Japanese voters in their first free election since regaining sovereignty handed world communism its worst Asian setback of the postwar era.

Japan's Communist party, which won 35 House seats in the 1949 election, failed to place a single one of its 107 candidates in Wednesday's balloting.

Only Two Left
Only two Communists remain in the Japanese Parliament. Both are in the virtually powerless Senate. Voters gave pro-American Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida and his Liberal party an absolute majority of 240 in 466-member House.

Japanese commentators predicted that Japan would follow an even stronger policy of cooperation with the West, particularly with the U. S.

The severe drubbing which the Japanese gave the Communists at the polls amazed observers.

It was a smashing cold war victory for the democratic West.

Island Grab Resented
The Red defeat reflected Japanese revulsion for the Red campaign of violence and hate which reached a high point in May Day riots. It mirrored, too, Japanese irritation with Soviet Russia's reluctance to hand back or even discuss the thousands of Nipponese war prisoners missing behind the Iron Curtain.

It showed the depth of Japan's suspicion of the Communists who seized islands within sight of Japan after the war. The Japanese have become increasingly angry at Soviet capture of Japan's fishing boats and crews off the northern island, Hokkaido.

Red Threats Fail

The Soviet Union's 1950 agreement with Red China on a mutual defense pact aimed directly at Japan was a blow to hopes that this nation might be able to get on a friendly footing with the Communists. The Red refusal last year to accept the San Francisco peace treaty with Japan heightened suspicions.

The renewed Sino-Soviet agreement last month permitting Russian troops to remain in Port Arthur just across the Yellow Sea from Japan and the Soviet veto of Japan's application for entry into the United Nations further crushed Japan's hopes for amicable relations with her Red Asian neighbors.

If the Communists had hoped by their concentrated program of threats and provocation to frighten the Japanese into breaking their ties with the West, they have failed miserably.

Military Planning Bottleneck Bared

By RUSSELL BRINES
WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Bonner (D-NC) today called for revamping the Joint Chiefs of Staff to eliminate what he called a bottleneck in military planning.

The top military officials, he said, are unable to function adequately because they are both partisans and judges in inter-service rivalries.

Old Pros Run Show
Bonner suggested in a statement that the chairman of the joint chiefs be given authority to decide controversial issues and that other members be made military advisers rather than policy representatives of their services.

The joint chiefs are the top Army, Air Force and Navy officers who, under Gen. Omar Bradley as chairman, advise the President on major military problems. The chairman now is "voteless and is armed only with the power of persuasion" to guide the "old pros who run the Department of Defense," Bonner said.

Law Inadequate

Bonner's statement accompanied the last of several hearing reports on military supply problems released today by a House expenditures subcommittee which he heads.

Secretary of Defense Lovett testified last June, Bonner said, that the law unifying the armed services is inadequate and he will recommend changes before leaving office this year.

"For one thing," Bonner said, "I hope he makes recommendations to change the two-hat make-up of the Joint Chiefs of Staff."

Sen. McCarthy Shares Eisenhower Spotlight In Wisconsin Today

ABOARD EISENHOWER SPECIAL (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower opened his presidential campaign in Wisconsin today by declaring he has differences with Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) but both have the same goal of ridding the government of subversives.

Eisenhower voiced appreciation that McCarthy was among those who had come to welcome him to Wisconsin—and was among those aboard his special train.

Eisenhower said the differences between him and McCarthy were well known—to everyone—and he had discussed these differences with McCarthy. He said differences were inevitable in a political party. He said, however, that he and McCarthy had the same goal of ridding the government of disloyal and subversive elements.

A hometown crowd at Appleton roared its approval as Eisenhower appeared on the platform with McCarthy. The GOP presidential nominee threw his support behind McCarthy despite the differences, he said exist between them.

The Wisconsin senator, running for re-election, climbed aboard the Eisenhower special in Peoria, Ill., last night after a surprise conference with the GOP presidential nominee.

"We had a pleasant talk," was all McCarthy would say to reporters. They caught him in a hotel

Table Reserved For Dead Wife

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP)—Two candles will be lighted Saturday night at a corner table in one of Savannah's eating places. A sign will mark two seats as "reserved" but they will not be occupied.

The candles will be a memorial to a love story.

Two years ago Saturday, Logan and Mary Roe sat at the table. They had been married that day. Much of their courtship had been conducted at the same table in the light of flickering candles.

A few months ago Mary died—a victim of cancer. Roe, a merchant mariner, applied for sea duty.

Wednesday night he telephoned the restaurant from New York. A letter he had just mailed contained a $5 bill. He said:

"I'm on a transport that is putting to sea in the morning, but I want to reserve our table for our anniversary Saturday night. The bill will cover any expenses involved."

Their table will be reserved and the candles lighted. The $5 bill will go to the church where they were both members.

Hose Cools Off Riot At Prison

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—A wild, screaming riot by half a hundred convicts at suburban Oakalla Prison yesterday was drowned out by fire hoses after a cell block had been turned into a shambles.

Two guards held as hostages during the 2½-hour uprising were unharmed. All prisoners also escaped injury.

Warden Hugh Christie said the abortive riot was touched off in protest against a new policy of placing two men in all cells, which formerly held only one.

The warden reported that 45 prisoners directly involved in the destructive demonstration were punished last night, with some being whipped with a long, leather strap "on their bare backsides."

Christie said those who did not get the "paddle" either lost their time off for good behavior or were reprimanded.

Furniture in the cell block was broken, toilets and wash basins were ripped up, bunks were torn apart and doors were barricaded. The prison houses 800 men.

Republican Nominee In Taft's Pocket, President Declares

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN (AP)—President Truman pressed his firing at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in Oregon and California today, calling him a captive of the "Republican isolationists" whose election might endanger the country.

While his campaign train "board of strategy" worked over a mass of material for further attacks on the GOP presidential nominee, Truman told West Coast voters Eisenhower "has fallen in with a pretty bad crowd."

"He's in Taft's pocket, and that Taft is telling him what to do," the President said at Everett, Wash., yesterday.

Hits At Old Guard

Then, at Kent, Wash., last night Truman told another audience of 8,000 persons the "reactionary Old Guard" has taken the general into camp, and charged that with some of the advice Eisenhower has been getting lately, "I am afraid he will wreck our foreign policy, and the peace of the world."

Then to a cheering, Democratic rally in the Eagles hall at Seattle, Truman said Sen. Robert A. Taft reported after his New York City breakfast with the nominee that they had agreed to cut 10 billion dollars off the budget in the fiscal year 1954 and another 20 billions a year later.

More than 3,000 persons jammed the Seattle hall, it was estimated by Patrol Chief of Police J. D. Porter, who also estimated an additional 50,000 to 60,000 lined the streets between the railroad station and the auditorium.

All Petty Politics

"This whole proposition is irresponsible, petty politics," the President said. "No such cuts are possible without impairing our security—without in fact wrecking it."

This would be sheer folly in the face of the known dangers of Soviet aggression."

He said Eisenhower was making "this irresponsible bid for votes" because to get the support of the Ohio senator he defeated for the

Tree In Steeple

BALTIMORE (AP)—The fire department was called out yesterday—to uproot a tree growing on the spire of the First Presbyterian Church.

It was feared the roots would expand and break off a chunk of the masonry. The sapling apparently developed from a seed carried up to the church spire by a pigeon.

Taft And Truman On Same Stage

SHENANDOAH, Ia. (AP)—A rare political doubleheader brings President Truman and Sen. Robert A. Taft to the same speaking platform here next Wednesday and sponsors in this southwest Iowa city of 7,000 envision an outpouring of as many as 75,000 persons.

The political antagonists won't exactly share the platform—their speeches are about three hours apart.

And although a face-to-face meeting is possible, it's not likely, according to President Robert E. Tyler of the sponsoring chamber of commerce. This depends in part on the Ohio senator's arrival and departure schedule, not yet received.

The occasion is the annual harvest festival, better known as "Pancake Day" for the fact free pancakes traditionally are served.

"We are doing everything we possibly can to keep this non-partisan and non-political as far as the chamber of commerce is concerned," said Tyler in commenting on the problems of political protocol involved.

14 Delta Men On Induction List

Fourteen Delta County men will leave Oct. 6 for induction examinations at Milwaukee, the Delta County Selective Service board announced today.

In addition, 11 men, including one doctor, will leave at the same time for pre-induction examinations at Milwaukee.

Both groups of men will report to the draft board office, 1221 Ludington street, at 2 p. m., Oct. 6, to leave for Milwaukee.

The draft board has received an induction call for 16 men Nov. 5, and a pre-induction call for 15 men on the same day.

The November pre-induction list calls for five physicians from Delta County. Those under 51 years of age who have not had prior service and have not been previously examined will be called for pre-induction examinations.

Those leaving Monday for induction are Lorn Earl Johnson, (leader), Donald Keith Martineau, Robert Francis Pillote, James Diamond Prokos, Vaughn Albert Starrine, Gordon Merle Haddy, Edward Carrington Baker, and James John Corbett, of Escanaba; Marvin Lloyd Sigfred, of Stonington; Edward James Ottenhoff, and Robert J. Gustafson, of Gladstone; Robert John Olson, of Bark River; Clayton Joseph Co. of Garden; and Dale Thomas Gibson, of Rapid River.

Harold Alfred Nelson, of Bark River, who was previously in the Delta induction group, has been transferred to Ann Arbor.

John Patrick Farrell and George Rouman, of Escanaba, have been transferred to Ann Arbor; and Lloyd Joseph Plouff, of Escanaba, has been transferred to Detroit.

May Not 'Swear In' Vote Election Day

Deadline for persons to register so they may vote in the November election is Monday, Oct. 6, with the office of City Clerk George Harvey open to 8 p. m. that day.

The city clerk directed attention to a 1951 Michigan act which prohibits persons not registered from "swearing in" their vote on election day.

To vote Nov. 4 they must be registered by Oct. 6. If they are not now registered and fail to register by Monday they will not be permitted to vote.

Daughter Of Lincoln's Law Partner Votes For First Time at 93

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — Mrs. Dollie Lamon Teillard, whose father was Abraham Lincoln's law partner, will vote for the first time in November, and for the Republican presidential candidate too.

Although 93-year-old Mrs. Teillard practically grew up in the lap of politics, she was living in France when women won the right to vote in 1920. And after returning to this country about 12 years ago, she lived in Washington, D. C. where residents do not have the right to vote.

She moved here more than a year ago—long enough to qualify for this year's election.

Firm Policy Needed, To Fight Communism, Says Robert Vogeler

By ROSE LACHAPPELLE
Daily Press Staff Writer

MARQUETTE—World War III can be avoided only if the United States gives up its policy of appeasement toward Russia, Robert Vogeler, former prisoner of Communist-dominated Hungary, last night told Upper Michigan school teachers.

Vogeler was principal speaker at the first general session of the Michigan Education Association's regional conference. Clare Taylor, assistant superintendent in the state department of public instruction, also spoke, substituting for Dr. Lee M. Thurston.

If the U. S. S. R. knows the United States will retaliate for any Russian acts of aggression, she will desist because she is not ready to attack, Vogeler declared last night.

Tells of Imprisonment

The former Communist prisoner said this is important, not because of "what happened to me" but to give hope to the people behind the Iron Curtain.

"I lived and worked with those people and have studied there, and I know they are not Communist and don't want to be," the assistant vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company emphasized.

Vogeler said the United States needs to encourage the people in the Communist-dominated countries. Otherwise, he told Upper Michigan teachers, they will be forced to look to the Soviet Union. He pointed out that countries behind the Iron Curtain need assurance that the United States will be consistent in its support of them, and that they will not be "thrown back to another dictator."

Vogeler told teachers of his experiences in Hungary where he was imprisoned for 17 months. He described the beatings, ice water baths, his 6x9 cell in which a bright light burned constantly, the water-covered floor of his underground cell, and the methods used to secure a "confession" from him.

Went to Europe in 1945

He told of 12 days of questioning for 20 hours a day; of severely beaten "witnesses" who were frequently brought before him so they would name him as leader of a spy-ring; of days when he received only coffee, cigarettes and stimulants; and of the "confession" he had to memorize for his "trial."

Vogeler said his questioner told him that he (the Communist) was the same one who had extracted a confession from Cardinal Mindszenty. The idea was that if a cardinal with all his spiritual power could not stand up under the questioning, neither could an American businessman, Vogeler explained.

The AT&T official, sent to supervise seven factories in Eastern and Central Europe shortly after V-J Day in 1945, also described the methods of Communist infiltration.

Order Suspension Of Two Policemen

Two Escanaba police officers today were under suspension for reckless use of firearms in the city, with final disciplinary action awaiting the return of City Manager A. V. Aronson, who is attending an International City Managers meeting in Kansas City, Mo.

The suspensions are for James Tweedy and Lawrence Formenti for firing shots from their 38 caliber police pistols at 3 a. m. Sept. 28. One of the bullets broke a window in the kitchen of a home and embedded itself in the wall. The officers told Safety Director Glen Leonard they were shooting at a small animal.

Leonard said final decision in disciplining the men will be made by the manager, who is administrative head of the city.

Marquette Bus Line Suspends Operations

MARQUETTE—Because it has been losing money for two years, the Marquette Transit Lines Company is forced to suspend operations as of Saturday, Oct. 4, it was announced today.

City Manager James A. Clulo pointed out that it is illegal for Marquette to take over and operate the bus lines, and consequently it appears the city will be without any, since it has proven a losing proposition for private firms.

George Hore, president of the bus firm, has attempted to straighten out the line's financial conditions by eliminating the most unprofitable runs and by increasing fares.

Temperature Drops, More Cold Coming

Escanabans got their first taste of cool weather this autumn last night as temperatures dropped down into the 20's.

Lowest recording in Delta county was at Boney Falls where a reading of 22 was reported by S. E. Decker, Escanaba weatherman.

The cool air mass that blanketed the Great Lakes area is being followed by a warming trend, but it won't last long. Weather stations report a new cold air mass rolling southward across the northern plains of Canada and temperatures are due for another dip in the Upper Peninsula Saturday.

GLORY?

Ask Capt. Flagg and Sgt. Quirt. Do you buy it—like you do a cigarette? ... Or do you rush up and meet it like you do a girl named Charmaine? ... Or is it something that's in you from the beginning? Is it made of courage, and hope and tears and fears? Or is it the guts to laugh—when there's nothing to laugh about? Is this the Price of Glory?

Norton Estate Status Is Told

James E. Frost, executor of the John P. Norton estate, informed the Escanaba Board of Education yesterday that $22,738.14 has been received by the John P. Norton estate from the Anna C. Norton estate in final settlement.

Anna C. Norton, wife of John P. Norton, died in December, 1949, several months preceding the death of John P. Norton, founder and publisher of the Escanaba Daily Press. John P. Norton bequeathed the bulk of his estate to the Escanaba Board of Education for scholarships to deserving Escanaba High School graduates.

The board has informed the executor that it hopes first scholarships from the Norton estate can be made available in 1953.

Attorney Frost and members of the board discussed the possibilities of early sale of the Escanaba Daily Press. A decision on the method of sale may be reached when the board convenes in regular session October 14.

The executor and the attorney for the Norton estate, Denis McGinn, also informed the board that it is hoped that the Norton estate's suit against WDBC and the management of the radio station may be tried in Circuit Court here during the term starting Oct. 27.

Council Considers Request For Rifle Range Site In City

A request of the retail committee of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce to establish a rifle range on city-owned land was taken under consideration last night by the City Council to determine whether such permission may be legally granted.

John Ryan, retail committee chairman, told the Council the area would be used by sportsmen who wanted to sight their rifles and practice before deer hunting season opened. Use would be supervised by rifle and sportsmen's clubs.

Loren Jenkins, city engineer, recommended an area east of U.S. 2-41 at the north city limits, where ridges of sand built for the government are dock project would form bunkers or backstops for bullets.

The Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the Red Jacket Jamboree in connection with hunting season and rifle, pistol and shotgun practice, with demonstrations in gun safety, a part of the program.

City Employees Get Pay Raise

One hundred and ninety-three Escanaba city employees, from the city manager down, were granted a 3 per cent wage increase retroactive to Aug. 25, 1952, it was decided by the City Council last night on recommendation of the Civil Service Commission.

The salary boost, to meet higher cost of living, represents approximately $12,000 increase in the city's salary budget for the remainder of the fiscal year which will end July 1, 1953.

The 3 per cent increase will be based on salaries paid in July, 1951, as recommended by the Civil Service Commission.

The recommendation of the Commission followed a request for higher pay by the employees, meetings with the employees, hearings and studies by the commission.

Mayor Robert E. LeMire last night said the Council knows the employees feel they should have a larger increase, but on the basis of the Commission's recommendation and the city's limited funds the 3 per cent was approved.

THEN THE CABLE BROKE—Recovery operations were progressing Thursday as a barge-borne crane shown here was moving an overturned ore car (right foreground) from a C. & N. W. ore dock crib where it had fallen Sunday. A second later the car was at the bottom of the bay after rolling too far to the crib edge. The car is one of two which fell from the top of dock No. 6 Sunday in an ore train mishap. The other is in the water at the top in the above photo. Later the barge hoisted both cars and took them to the yards for repairs. (Daily Press Photo)

New Prefabricated Bunkers Save Lives For U. S. In Korea

By SAM SUMMERLIN
SOMEWHERE IN KOREA (U)—The defenders of "Old Baldy" are singing the praises of a new, light, all-metal prefabricated bunker.

This bunker, born of grim necessity, is a great improvement over the "Abe Lincoln" prefabricated bunkers of logs which made their appearance on the front only a short time ago.

Up In 30 Minutes
Troops of the 38th Regiment, U. S. Second Division, vow they can put together the metal bunkers and make a protective roof in less than 30 minutes. Time is a matter of life and death when troops storm up a hill and need quick cover from thunderous Communist shelling.

Engineers of the Second Division designed the shelters. They are township, village and city officers who have placed an order for them.

Admits Misrepresenting—A youthful salesman for a magazine subscription solicitation firm admitted misrepresenting himself to customers in Escanaba yesterday, and the persons from whom he received orders are being given the opportunity to cancel their subscriptions today, Escanaba police reported. The youth erroneously told persons on whom he called that he was the son of a local resident and was a high school student here.

constructed with barbed wire pickets and welded into four sections. Each section weighs about 75 pounds.

So Soldier Approves
One man can carry a section. This allows a sharp speed-up in construction over the "Abe Lincoln" log bunkers. It generally takes two men to carry each log, and 30 to 40 logs are used for one bunker. The Second Division said.

The metal bunker has openings for firing on all four sides. When complete, it is 5 feet square and 3 1/2 feet high.

"There isn't much room on the inside, but for a fighting bunker they are number one," commented an Old Baldy veteran, Pfc. Orval Dietz of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

The Second Division said 20 pounds of explosives were set off on the roof of a metal bunker without demolishing it. In tests, mortars exploded three to five feet from the bunkers without causing any visible damage.

Cover When Needed
The new metal structures were used by the division for the first time in the furious Old Baldy fighting on Korea's Western Front. They made a big hit with the soldiers.

"We were able to get these new bunkers up to our positions much quicker, and this very definitely saved us many casualties," remarked 1st Lt. Lucas Floyd of Somerset, Ky., pioneer and ammunition platoon leader. "It's right after you take a hill that you need over-head cover the most."

War Casualties
WASHINGTON (U)—The Defense Department today identified 119 casualties of the Korean War. The new list included 15 killed, 103 wounded and one missing.

Cramps & Stiffness in Legs
Bothered Me for 10 Years
"My grandfather was an herbalist, and taught me the value of nature's herbs," says Mr. Lewis Nearpass, 644 Fairlyland Ave., Jackson, Michigan.
"I noted the herbs contained in O-JIB-WA BITTERS on the label and being familiar with most of them, I knew O-JIB-WA to be a very good formula. I suffered with cramps and stiffness in my legs for 10 years and even walking was painful and difficult. Although I continued to work, it was always under a handicap. After a day's work, I came home so tired, but when in bed, I couldn't sleep. O-JIB-WA BITTERS was brought to my attention and being an all herb medicine, I decided to try it. I wasn't disappointed, as it has good formula. I lived up to my expectations in every way. O-JIB-WA removed all the aches and pains of arthritis from my legs, gave me more pep and helped me to sleep better nights. I couldn't ask more of any medicine and am a real booster for O-JIB-WA BITTERS." You can buy it at any leading drug store in Michigan.

Highway Paving In City Is Studied By Council

Escanaba City Council, presented with a proposed resolution from the State Highway Department which would provide for the city's participation in the cost of improving portions of US-2-41 and M-35, last night delayed action to further study the proposal.

On petition of residents of the Ludington-23rd Street area the Council about one year ago requested the State Highway Department to make the improvement.

Since that time the cities of Escanaba, Gladstone and the Delta County Road Commission have requested the state to construct a four-lane highway between the two cities to better handle the volume of traffic.

May Revise Thinking
This may change the Council's thinking in connection with the proposed improvement of sections of the three state trunklines north, west and south of the Ludington-23rd Street intersection.

Escanaba Council last night expressed the feeling that improvement for 970 feet north of the intersection, 1700 feet west, and 1530 feet south is not extensive enough to materially solve the traffic problem.

Councilmen said they believed the four-lane improvement should be extended westward on Memory Lane to the city limits, at least.

Would Pay One-Half
Plans for the improvement as submitted by the State Highway Department are nearly completed, the city was informed.

The city would be expected to pay one-half the cost, or approximately $20,000, said City Engineer Loren Jenkins. The city has $15,000 budgeted for the project.

Council tabled the matter until next meeting and meanwhile will consider the possibility of either extending the project or further delaying it until the project study for a four-lane highway between Gladstone and Escanaba is reported on by the state.

In other business the Council last night adopted a resolution to establish special assessments for construction of a water main on North 20th Street between Ninth and 11th Avenues North; and amended the appropriation ordinance to establish a revolving fund to finance special assessment projects.

Escanaba Song Contest Planned

Preparations are being speeded up for the Land O' Lakes district barbershop quartet contest, which is to be held at Escanaba Saturday, Nov. 1. As tickets went on sale today, one of the first reservation orders filled was one coming from the Canadian province of Saskatchewan, one of the three Dominion provinces included in the SPEBSQSA district.

There will be two shows Nov. 1, one in the afternoon for the eliminations in the barbershop quartet contest, and another for the finals in the evening. For the evening contest, which will be at the Oliver Memorial auditorium, all seats will be reserved, and the ticket board is now in place at Rich's tea room, 906 Ludington. The afternoon contest tickets will be all general admission.

Director Sam Ham of the Bay de Noc barbershop chorus last night began final rehearsals on the songs selected by the local singers for their part in the Nov. 1 program. An Escanaba quartet, the Fourtissimos, will also take part. Entries in the quartet contest will come from four states, in addition to the Canadian provinces. The states include North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. Last year's district quartet champions from Wisconsin will be guests on the program.

The gal who has slaved all afternoon over a hot bridge table usually gets to the supermarket just ahead of the 9 to 5 crowd.

Escanaba Daily Press

An Evening Newspaper Published Daily Except Sunday by the Estate of John P. Norton, Deceased

James G. Ward, Jr., General Manager

Ken L. Gauderman, Editor

Editorials—

Saturday Is Newspaperboy Day; We Salute Daily Press Carriers

HERE comes our newspaper . . . what a wealth of drama is contained in those four words! And what a tense air of anticipation awaits the progress of every newspaperboy as he winds his way along his familiar route. Curtains move apart, doors swing open . . . and the education and entertainment of a neighborhood is about to begin.

Remember your own carrier boys over the years? That small, quiet, tousle-haired one who never said much but was as regular as a clock; the devilish, laughing-eyed lad who made a game of his job; the noisy brothers who "helped" each other, carrying on a running argument all the while? They're gone now, full-grown men who learned the lesson of dollars and cents early . . . and had a wonderful, unforgettable time doing it.

Maybe you never really got to know your newspaperboy . . . maybe he's the kid next door. But each day, storm or sunshine, he delivers to your doorstep a chronicle which includes a history of your own life if you go back through the yellowing files. A chronicle of your big days, the great days . . . those first few lines announcing your entrance on the stage; then as the years flew by, graduation and you were ready to conquer the world at last. Remember the picture of the starry-eyed couple coming down the aisle, then the eagerly-clipped announcement of your own first-born? Perhaps there was sadder news too . . . a final tribute to a loved one. Its all there—the joys and the sorrows, the laughs and the heartaches of the passing parade—with you marching in line.

Did you ever stop to picture the empty spot in your own life if there were no welcome thud of a newspaper against your doorstop, no regular visitor with a canvas bag bulging—not with mere paper and ink—but with tickets to the world's greatest drama?

Perhaps your newspaperboy trips over his heels once in a while . . . he's a typical boy with typical boyish failings. But he's trying his best to do his job the best way he knows how . . . and he's playing a big, too often unsung role in your daily life. He's ambitious, he has initiative, he's a real go-getter . . . or he wouldn't be a newspaperboy. And he's learning invaluable lessons in the art of making friends and the workings of our American way of life—lessons that will come back time and again in the years ahead.

The Escanaba Daily Press is especially proud of our newspaper carriers. They are fine, loyal group of youngsters, doing an important job in a businesslike way. We are proud and happy to take this occasion to tell them what we appreciate their work and their devotion to duty. We hope that you, too, will go out of your way tomorrow, National Newspaper Day, and tell them that you, too, appreciate their services.

(ANONYMOUS)
TODAY my daughter, who is seven years old, started to school as usual. She wore a dark blue dress with a white collar. She had on black shoes and wore blue gloves. Her cocker spaniel, whose name is Coot, sat on the front porch and whined his canine belief in the folly of education as she waved goodbye and started off to the hall of learning.

Tonight we talked about school. She told me about the girl who sits in front of her, the girl with the yellow curls, and the boy who sits across the aisle who makes funny faces. She told me about her teacher who has eyes in the back of her head, and the trees in the school yard, and about the girl who doesn't believe in Santa Claus. We talked about a lot of things—tremendously vital, unimportant things—and then we studied spelling, reading, arithmetic—and then to bed.

She's back there now—back in the nursery sound asleep with Princess Elizabeth (that's her doll) cuddled in her right arm.

You guys wouldn't hurt her, would you? You see, I'm her Daddy. When her doll is broken or her finger is cut or her head gets bumped, I can fix it. But when she starts for school, when she walks across the street, then she's in your hands.

She's a nice kid. She can run like a deer and dart like a chipmunk. She likes to ride horses and swim and hike with me on Sunday afternoons.

But I can't be with her all the time. I have to work to pay for her clothes and her education. So please help me look out for her. Please drive slowly past the schools and intersections—and please remember that children run from behind parked cars.

Please don't run over my little girl.

The Doctor Says . . . To Neglect Ulcer Symptoms Is to Invite Complications

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Mrs. G. D. writes that her husband was operated on for gastric ulcer, and wants to know if that is the same as cancer.

The answer is that it is not the same as cancer, but cancer can form in or near an ulcer pocket. It is important to be sure that one is dealing with one and not the other, since the treatment is not the same for both.

Coming to a discussion of ulcer of the stomach, it should be said first that there are two main kinds. In one the ulcer is located in the stomach itself and in the other it lies below the stomach in the first portion of the intestines known as the duodenum.

The symptoms of these two types of ulcer are not quite alike, nor are they always the same even when the ulcer is in the same spot in two different patients.

The pain of an ulcer in the stomach proper usually comes on soon after meals and is associated with some tenderness just below the breastbone. It is not always constant and may disappear, perhaps leaving the patient with no symptoms at all.

Other digestive disturbances or sensations are common. Vomiting several hours after eating is one. The pain when present may be burning or gnawing in nature and may come and go for several hours. The symptoms of an ulcer in the duodenum are not too different and the physician cannot tell from the symptoms alone where the ulcer is located.

In duodenal ulcer, however, the discomfort or pain is more likely to come two or three hours after a meal rather than immediately after eating. Vomiting is not as common as in ulcers located in the stomach itself.

MUST TAKE HISTORY
Actually, the diagnosis of the location of the ulcer depends on the results of careful history taking, examination of the stomach contents, and looking into the stomach or photographing the lining.

If the ulcer eats through the wall of the stomach, the contents will be spilled into the abdominal cavity, and this is a very serious complication indeed.

Such symptoms as those mentioned, therefore, even if they are not present continuously, should not be neglected because of the danger of the serious complications of bleeding or eating through into the abdominal cavity.

County Government Costs Reduced

THE reduction in the cost of county government, reported in the state audit for Delta County for the year 1951, is good news to county taxpayers, particularly because the reduction developed in the face of inflation and mounting prices.

The cost of county government last year in Delta County was $20.56 per resident, compared to $23.71 in 1950 and $21.38 in 1949. Taxpayers will agree that it is a significant trend, in contrast, federal government costs are going higher and higher.

Highest cost of county government, of course, is for welfare and medical assistance, items that represented just about half of the total cost. Highway maintenance and construction costs were the next biggest item of expense, figuring at $7.38 per resident.

Other Editorial Comments

A $64 QUESTION
(Christian Science Monitor)
The $60 billion which the federal government collected from taxpayers in the United States in the fiscal year 1951-52 was not their total tax bill. To this the tax collections of the 48 states added $9.8 billion, according to the yearly calculations of the Commerce Clearing House. Then there were the property taxes and so forth levied by municipalities.

The increase in state taxes was more than 10 per cent over 1951, according to the statisticians. This brought the average cost per person for state government during 1951-52 to the intriguing figure of $64.

For whatever it may signify, the two states having the highest per capita rate of tax collections, each $103, were Louisiana and Washington. At the bottom of the scale, with $36 stood New Jersey.

When everything else goes up, the cost of state government can scarcely fail to follow. Yet $64 a year from each member of the family is something more than "chicken feed." Efficiency and economy are objectives to strive for in state administration as well as federal.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Last spring this column told the inside story of a stormy secret session of the Senate elections committee at which Sen. Guy Gillette of Iowa threatened to resign.

After the story appeared, Senator Gillette issued a statement, resorting to the easiest epithet of a politician: "Pearson is a liar."

"Seventy-five per cent of what he writes is hog-wash," stated the senator from Iowa.

However, in a letter dated Sept. 10, 1952, now made public, Senator Gillette wrote to Sen. Carl Hayden of Arizona, as follows:

"As you know, I tried to resign as chairman earlier this spring, but you pointed out the situation with reference to membership on the rules committee, which made it difficult to fill my place with a new assignment from the Democratic side of the committee."

In retrospect, senator, who was it that was really lying?

FLEET MANEUVERS FLOP
Reports to Washington from operation Mainbrace indicate that the big North Sea naval maneuver was a flop.

A heavy gale kept the carrier planes out of action at the crucial moments; submarines slipped through and claimed torpedo hits against all the carriers; and the surf was too rough to land the marines on a beachhead. Instead, they had to be hauled around on the lee side of Denmark in order to go through their maneuvers.

When these reports reached Washington, Admiral Fechteler, chief of naval operations, almost blew his top. He let out a mighty roar, charging that the submarines exaggerated their reports and that they would have needed "a whole transport full of torpedoes" to make all the hits they claimed.

POLITICAL-GO-ROUND
Here is what the politicians reported to Eisenhower as of the end of last week: Taft told him Ohio would go Republican, though his brother, Charlie, would have a tight race for governor. In West Virginia, Rush Holt, the pro-Nazi sympathizer, predicted he would be elected governor, while others predicted Chapman Revercomb would lose to Senator Kilgore. North Carolina and Virginia were considered hopeful but doubtful . . . General Eisenhower spoke at every whistle stop his managers requested. But he drew the line at one thing—climbing down from the rear platform and shaking hands with the crowd at every stop, as urged by Congressman George Bender of Ohio . . . the producer who staged Senator Nixon's broadcast, one of the most dramatic and effective in years, was Ed Sobal, NBC's top television producer. The man who helped write it was ace-attorney Bill Rogers . . . Correction: Bert Andrews, New York Herald Tribune correspondent, did not urge Eisenhower to drop Senator Nixon from the ticket as earlier reported in this column.

JOHN L. LEWIS NEGOTIATES
The big steel companies, and particularly U. S. Steel, haven't been renowned for pro-labor sympathies. But John L. Lewis can chiefly thank them for the generous new contract he got from the coal operators, giving him a $1.90 daily pay boost, plus extra welfare benefits.

Unlike the commercial coal companies, which were in no hurry to settle, big steel wanted a quick settlement for its captive coal companies—for two reasons:

1. The steel companies feared a prolonged strike might interfere with steel production; 2. They could afford to absorb a substantial coal pay boost in their overall steel-production costs much easier than commercial operators, who mine solely for consumer sale.

By a fortuitous circumstance the man who was chief spokesman for both the steel-owned captive mines and the northern commercial mines was Harry Moses, former president of the H. C. Frick Company, the big captive firm owned by U. S. Steel.

Bargaining negotiations with John L. Lewis usually go on for days. This time it was strangely different, and Moses practically jumped over the bargaining table at the first meeting to come to terms with Big John.

TOMBSTONE NAMES
It's supposed to be kept secret until after election day, but West Virginia Republicans are quietly setting a trap for any Democratic "ghosts" who try to stuff the ballot box, November 4.

They are especially anxious to catch names taken from gravestones, which they claim, appeared in the 1950 balloting. Therefore the secret GOP plan is to mail more than half a million political circulars to registered voters. Some of these registered voters presumably will be grave-stone names.

Therefore, the Republicans have quietly arranged with the post office to return all uncollected circulars. A list of these names will be turned over to every Republican precinct captain. So, when anyone tries to vote under a name the post office couldn't locate, he will be challenged at the polls on election day.

10 YEARS AGO
Rock—The new fire department proved its worth Monday evening when fire broke out in a barn in the rear of the Larson brothers store. Some hay in the barn was burned but there was little damage to the building.

Escanaba—William Jacobs, student at the University of Michigan, is visiting at his home here.

Manistique—Ben Liberman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Liberman, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. Army and is leaving next week for Seattle, Wash. Ben is one of six Liberman brothers now serving the United States. Ben has been employed in his father's broom factory here.

20 YEARS AGO
Escanaba—For the third time in 20 years, Ray Barron, Flat Rock farmer, suffered loss from fire yesterday. A large barn on the old Clifford Barron farm was destroyed by fire, including 40 tons of hay owned by Ray Barron. In 1921 a barn on the same farm burned and a few years ago Barron's farm home and furnishings were destroyed by fire.

Freedom's Defenders

Jefferson Disputed Hamilton To Bring Press Freedom Amendment

NEW YORK—An uncelebrated dispute led by two early Americans reached a celebrated climax in New York 163 years ago and resulted in a written endowment of freedom for the nation's press.

Without this endowment, the newspaper you are reading might be vastly different.

On one side of the argument was Thomas Jefferson who believed the nation's new constitution needed amending to provide specifically for press freedom among other things.

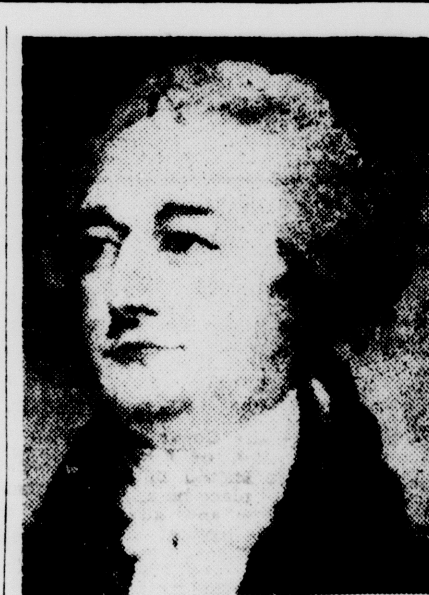

Opposed to Jefferson was Alexander Hamilton who, although in favor of an unrestricted press, said such an amendment was unnecessary.

The constitution ratified by the states a year earlier did not guarantee an uncontrolled press because Hamilton and his followers thought this freedom could better be attained if Congress were left to legislate on its behalf.

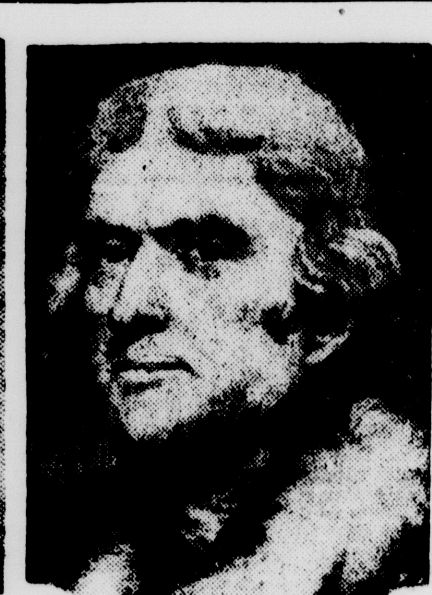

However, Jefferson took violent exception to this sort of thinking and pressed hard for his amendment.

Hamilton claimed such a provision "x x x would be dangerous. (It) would even contain various exceptions to powers not granted; and on this very account would afford a colorful pretext to claim more than were granted."

"For why declare that things shall not be done which there is no power to do?" Hamilton asked. "Why, for instance, should it be said that liberty of the press shall not be restricted when no power is given by which restrictions may be imposed?"

ALEXANDER HAMILTON

Despite these eloquent words, Jefferson, who now had the support of several states, persisted in his fight for the written guarantee.

He once said "if it were left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers, or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate for a moment to choose the latter."

The great debate went from warm to hot during the period it continued, causing political ramifications and pitting Jefferson and Hamilton against each other time and time again.

Finally, on Sept. 25, 1789, it was clear Jefferson had won.

On that date, 163 years ago today, the First Congress met here and at its first session agreed to submit 12 constitutional amendments to the 13 states for ratification.

The states declined to approve the first two proposed amendments, but ratified the other 10 called the Bill of Rights, the first of which includes Jefferson's cherished clause providing for freedom of the press.

It reads: "Congress shall make no law . . . abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press . . ."

Formosa Has Eye For The Future

By STANLEY RICH

TAIPEH, Formosa—Gov. K. C. Wu says Formosa can become self-sufficient in three years. If U. S. financial aid continues at the present rate.

"If you cut us down now," he said American aid to Formosa was slow in starting and much of the budgeted funds still are not available.

What is the island's biggest problem? The governor of Formosa was asked.

"It's still economic," he replied. "We can't make two ends meet yet. Our military structure is the biggest burden. This island has to support a half million-man standing army."

Wu, a Ph. D. from Princeton who was mayor of Shanghai when the Communists came, thinks his job as governor is the toughest he has tackled.

"It's more difficult than Shanghai," he said. "Those last three years on the mainland were terrible—student strikes, labor strikes—but here we have larger problems."

Gov. K. C. Wu said in an interview, "it will take us four, five or six years or even longer."

The United States has budgeted nearly 200 million dollars for economic aid since January, 1950, a month after the Chinese communists drove the nationalists from the mainland to this small but rich island. Another 100.5 million has been set aside for 1953.

Wu conceded that this aid "stabilized our government" but Despise the economic headaches, Wu feels he has made "definite progress" in one field—winning over the island's 7,600,000 native Formosans.

In February of 1947, an estimated 6,000 Formosans were killed in an uprising against the misrule of the then Nationalist governor, Chen Yi, who later was executed.

Under Wu's provincial government, 17 of the 23 top-level commissioners are Formosans. All but one of the 55 elected members of the island-governing Peoples Political Council are Formosans.

Wu feels that Formosans today respect the Chinese and feel that they are getting a good and fair government. With this view a lot of foreigners here agree.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

BEATING THE RAP—Hunting season comes at one of the most opportune times of the year to relieve men from the arduous responsibilities of home work.

What red-blooded American male can resist the call of the wild—when there are storm windows to put up, furnaces to clean, and accumulated trash to carry out of the basement?

This may be Fire Prevention Week. Clean Up-Paint Up Week. Be Kind to Wives Week, and Put Up Storm Windows Week—but it also hunting season. And when it is time to go hunting there is no time for anything else.

So the man of the family goes hunting to escape chores that, in total physical effort represented, are sufficient to make even a strong man turn pale and faint.

THE EASIER WAY—There is something about a day in the field after upland game, or in the duck blind after swift-winged waterfowl, that restores a man's soul and sinews.

A man may shy at washing a window, but he has plenty of vigor to polish his gun, grease his boots, walk 20 miles over rough ground, swim 100 yards free style in cold water to retrieve a duck, and come home smiling and happy.

Men all find it the easier way, no matter how many aches and pains they have after a day in the open, as it is called in the sports magazines.

HUMORING THE HUNTER—Wives of sportsmen have come to understand the compelling force in the heart of the true hunter. They know from experience he will do anything to escape a basement clean-up job.

They humor him as an example of something not quite mature enough to fend for itself, a small child wandering in a world of male-believe, chasing fantasies that have no place in a modern world.

So they see him off in the early hours of the morning, noting each clatter from the fast-cluttering kitchen, and then roll over for a few more hours of slumber.

When evening comes they prepare for his return, keeping something warm in the oven. He will be along after while (say an hour after sunset), hungry, tired, but with stars in his eyes and a bedraggled grouse or coot clutched in his moist little fist.

NO BARGAINS HERE—Most hunters will tell you, with considerable pride, that hunting is one of the least expensive sports because they "always bring some meat home for the family."

This meat does not usually appear on the menu—grouse, woodcock, pheasant, duck and goose. These delicacies will not be found at the market.

The price the hunter pays for a brace of partridge he never bothers to total for obvious reasons. Including shells, license, gun, gasoline, hunting clothes, and wear and tear on the automobile the birds are almost worth their weight in gold—pre-New Deal gold, that is.

THE COMPENSATIONS—Considering hunting as recreation, which is the best way of describing it, the returns cannot be counted in dollars and cents.

Above and beyond the bag of game is the satisfaction to be found in stalking the game—whether successfully or not.

Of necessity this takes the hunter into the woods, always an opportunity for quiet introspection and the relief of tensions accumulated in the rush of daily activity. There is beauty in the colored foliage, health in the fresh air and exercise. These are compensations the hunter finds on a trip to the out of doors.

And without revealing any antipathy toward home chores, the man of the house can in hunting find a legitimate excuse for delaying their doing. Since a choice must be made, hunting must come first, for the season waits for no man.

One thing is sure, there is nothing quite so rewarding as a successful hunting trip. And the only way for a man to know whether the hunting will be a success or failure is to go hunting.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

Bethlehem, Pa.—"I should appreciate it if you would inform me of the meaning and origin of the word kibitzer."—Miss M. D.

Answer.—A kibitzer is a person who, unasked, interferes in the affairs of others; he is one who breaks into conversation and volunteers advice, or tells how things should be done without invitation to do so. The term is generally interpreted to mean "one who minds everyone else's business but his own." In current slang, he is a buttinsky, or what the English term a Nosey Parker. Heywood Brown once wrote: "A kibitzer is a man who hangs about a card game in which he is not participating, and makes suggestions and gives advice to the players." The word is a Yiddish modification of German kibitzten, to look on at cards, and is derived from Kiebitz, one who looks on, or, literally, a lapwing or plover.

Paterson, N. J.—"In the prologue to Troilus and Cressida, by Shakespeare, are the lines: 'From isles of Greece the princes orgulous, their high blood chaf'd, Have to the port of Athens sent their ships.' I have been unable to find the meaning of the word orgulous."—L. R. B.

Illegal Incomes Caught By Taxes

DETROIT (AP)—Future operations by the government's special racket squad probe of illegal occupation incomes will net additional tax revenues, an Internal Revenue Bureau official said today.

Henry R. Sunball, chief of the bureau's Michigan intelligence division, commented on yesterday's announcement of a government crackdown on back income taxes involving illegal occupations.

Some 2,000 agents have been assigned to racket squads across the nation to try to extract every possible dollar in taxes from illegal incomes.

The crackdown netted $930,228 in back taxes from 451 racketeers in Michigan during the year ended last June 30, the bureau said.

Sunball said figures were based on operations during the fiscal year and will be more than doubled in the fiscal year starting July 1 of this year.

He said the aggregate total of collections made in Michigan and Ohio was $6,264,650, of which Ohio's share was more than five times that of Michigan.

from Memorial Hall where Stevenson is scheduled to talk about the same time on social security in a bid for the 25 electoral votes of Ohio, Taft's home state.

Taft is back in Ohio during a 19-state junket to campaign for the election of Eisenhower.

The senator emphasized his partisan friends must, like himself, forget their disappointment over his failure to win nomination and support Eisenhower.

"I am glad to assure those who believe in my principles," Taft said, "that if you elect him, you will have government based on the principles in which you believe."

In his 35-minute speech, Taft listed the three major issues of the campaign as: (a) corruption in government; (b) socialization; and (c) mismanagement of foreign affairs and the Korean War.

Spanish Publisher Shot To Death In New York Hallway

NEW YORK (AP)—A 44-year-old co-publisher of a Spanish language newspaper, was shot to death last night in the hallway of a Lower East Side tenement building.

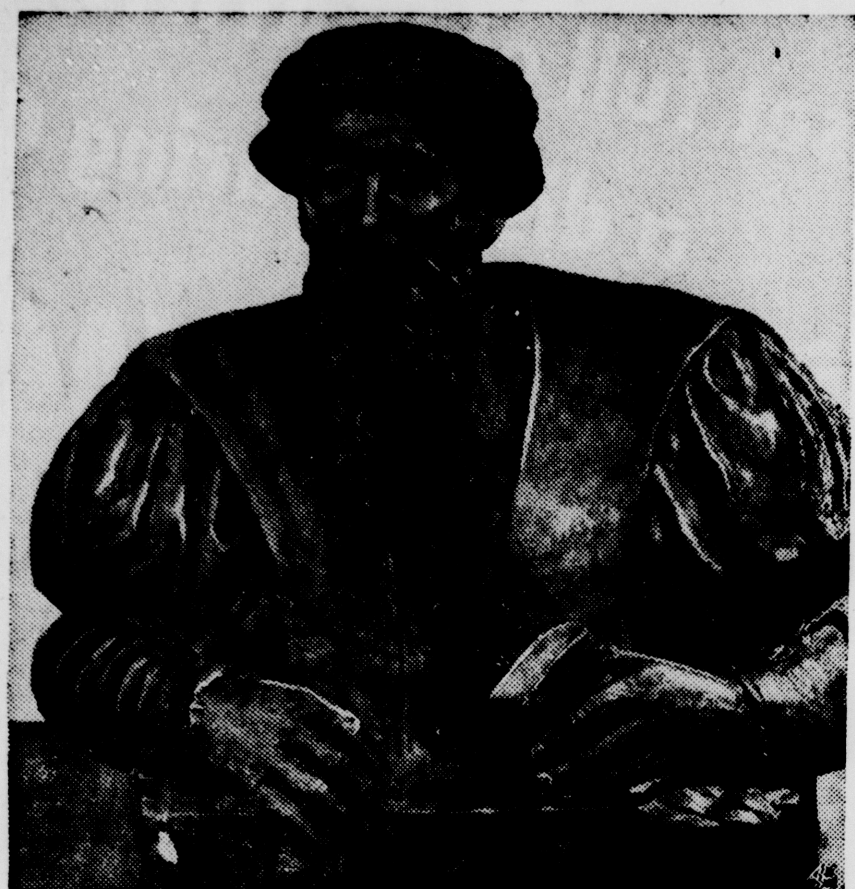

Reguena's newspaper, "De Patria," is editorially opposed to the government of President Hector Trujillo of the Dominican Republic.

Police said they knew of no political angle involved in the slaying, but would investigate every possibility.

A cab driver, Sol Tazitsky, said he drove Reguena to the address and agreed to wait five minutes.

Tazitsky said he heard five shots. Four bullets were found in Reguena's body, crumpled on the first-floor hallway. Police found the .38-caliber gun in the rear of the building. One bullet still was in the weapon.

Is This Gutenberg?

IS THIS THE MAN? Newly found bust of Gutenberg is different from other pictures of the first printer.

AP Newsfeatures

NEW YORK—Now that interest in Johannes Gutenberg is at high pitch, the Pierre Beres galleries here have come up with a bust of the first printer that has not been reported previously.

Gutenberg is getting attention because American newspapermen are holding their annual Newspaper Week, Oct. 1 to 8. And the churchmen are having a week to observe the first publication of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible Sept. 23 to Oct. 1. News-men regard Gutenberg as the first to print from moveable type and churchmen honor him for publishing the first printed Bible.

The bust was brought to America after the sale of the collections of an Italian nobleman, Marchese Panzi. It is different from other pictures of Gutenberg. But no one is sure what he really looked like because there are no portraits of him made during his lifetime.

"This must be considered just one more guess as to how the man looked," the gallery managers say. It does tally with the descriptive details about Gutenberg. The forked beard is one such as he wore and the costume is what a man of his standing would have worn.

The bust is 30 inches high and 28 inches wide. Although they are sure the work is more than 100 years old, the owners do not know who did it or exactly what its date may be. Few critics have had a chance to see it, but the impression is that it is a work of some distinction.

Robber To Face Federal Charge

MARQUETTE (AP)—Alden William Brooks, the admitted bank and tavern robber, was shipped out to Grand Rapids today for federal prosecution.

His reported $8,000 cash cache in Michigan was still undiscovered and state police quit their search for it.

Brooks, 27, Upper Peninsula resident, left by car with officers for Grand Rapids headquarters of the western Michigan federal district. He is under $10,000 bond for two alleged Dyer Act violations—transportation of stolen cars.

A third federal charge, bearing on his attempted holdup of a bank at Poplar, Wis., also has been placed against him.

Brooks' Michigan cache, which he said was near Rose City in the northern section of the lower peninsula, was part of the $25,720 loot from Brooks' holdup of an Ankeny, Ia., bank. He said he hid the rest of the loot in Oklahoma.

Republican Reins Handled By Taft, Truman Charges

GOP nomination, "he has to swallow the Taft foreign policy, hook, line and sinker, disguised as a budget cut."

"I am dismayed and disheartened that a man whom we all once respected, and a man whom I trusted implicitly, has thus turned his back upon the things we thought he stood for."

Truman's principal talk in Oregon today was scheduled as a rear platform appearance when his 16-car special train moves into Klamath Falls at 11:53 a.m., EST. His talks in California will be highlighted by an address around 6 p.m., EST, at the Redding Auditorium after an inspection of the big Shasta Dam there.

Whistle stop talks also were planned in California before Truman goes into San Francisco to spend tonight and speak tomorrow.

U. S. Steel Freight Carries 22,000 Tons In Limestone Cargo

DETROIT (AP)—The new steamer John G. Munson docked here yesterday with a cargo of record-breaking volume—22,000 tons.

Brought here from Rogers City, the cargo was limestone for the Detroit chemical industry. It was the largest cargo ever brought here.

The Munson, a 666-footer, is said to be the world's largest self-unloading vessel. With a 72-foot beam, she is the widest ship on the Great Lakes.

An intricate system of belt conveyors empties the ship's hold into a huge bucket elevator near the bow. In turn, the bucket takes the cargo to another belt conveyor on the bow for unloading.

The ship, a coal burner powered by a 7,000-horsepower electric drive, was launched last fall.

Nixon Schedules Michigan Talks

(By The Associated Press)
Senator Richard M. Nixon, the Republican vice-presidential nominee, is coming to Michigan for speeches Oct. 14 and Oct. 15.

GOP Lansing headquarters announced last night that Nixon will speak in Detroit Oct. 14 and Muskegon Oct. 15 and that he will make speeches elsewhere from the campaign train that will carry him across the state.

Details will be announced later. General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican presidential nominee, made an eight-speech swing across the state Wednesday and will be back for a major speech in Detroit Oct. 24.

Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, is coming for a major speech in Detroit Tuesday. He also plans talks in Saginaw, Ypsilanti and Dearborn.

Crime Racketeers Of Nation Marked For Deportation

he became attorney general last May.

Chaplin Mentioned
One reporter asked McGranery why so many alien or naturalized hoodlums had operated for years without any effort being made to deport them.

The attorney general replied, "Some of them have controlled political machines." But he declined to say whether such machines were Republican or Democratic.

In a formal statement about his exclusion program, McGranery mentioned in the same paragraph Frank Costello, ticketed for denaturalization and eventual deportation, and comedian Charles Chaplin, British subject who has had a 40-year multimillion-dollar movie career in this country.

Chaplin's private life has included four marriages and a 1944 indictment under the Mann Act, which forbids transportation of a woman across a state line for immoral purposes. He was acquitted of the Mann Act charge.

Chaplin, now 63, went to Europe on a visit last month. The Justice Department announced that, when he seeks re-entry, he will be subjected to a detailed Immigration Service examination to determine if he is eligible for re-admission.

Unsavory Character
McGranery, in discussing the Chaplin case, said:

"My own feeling about men so highly publicized and who show contemptible a regard for the high state of womanhood."

He did not finish the sentence.

However, noting that Chaplin has been "publicly charged," among other things, with being a Communist, McGranery added:

"If what has been said about him is true, he is in my judgment an unsavory character. No harm can come from a fair hearing, and if he can meet the standards of our laws, he will be re-admitted."

Expects To Return
In London, Chaplin told reporters:

"I do not wish to comment on these vague accusations which, strangely enough, McGranery has seen fit to publicize while I am 3,000 miles from the United States."

I reiterate that through proper channels I applied for and was given a re-entry permit by the U. S. government."

Turning aside from the field of what he described as "the ungrateful recipients of American hospitality," McGranery said he had never investigated Sen. Richard M. Nixon's $18,000 special expense fund, raised by California constituents of the Republican vice-presidential nominee.

McGranery said he had no plans to do so. He left unanswered a question whether there might be an investigation after the Nov. 4 election.

Stevenson Slaps Senator Taft In His Home Town

the Cincinnati address, and a major speech tonight at Columbus dealing with the welfare of the people after 20 years of Democratic administrations.

As a prelude to the Columbus speech, the Democratic nominee said in his Cincinnati talk that the Republican Old Guard sees Uncle Sam on his last legs with the handwriting on the wall showing bankruptcy, socialism, dictatorship.

"They are entitled to their nightmares," Stevenson said. "And we are entitled to our dreams."

"We know that we live in the happiest, most prosperous and vigorous country in all history."

After recommending to Ohio voters the candidacies of Frank Lausche for another term as governor and former Price Administrator Michael V. DiSalle for the Senate, the Illinois governor gave over most of his speech to the Old Guard and isolationism.

"What is really at issue in this election," he said, "is the role of this country in the world."

The Old Guard, Stevenson said, plans to sell a new isolationism to the American people through a radio-television "blitz" campaign of spot announcements.

Sen. McCarthy Rides With Ike Across Wisconsin hallway as he emerged from the surprise meeting with Eisenhower and GOP National Chairman Arthur Summerfield of Michigan.

A detailed program of Eisenhower's activities for the day issued aboard the general's train last night made no mention of McCarthy's name in any of the ceremonies.

Marshall Attack Recalled
Eisenhower gave no indication after the meeting what his position would be.

Last August in Denver, Colo., the general was asked in a news conference if he intended to support McCarthy, who in a Senate speech linked Gen. George C. Marshall—Eisenhower's old friend and Army comrade—to what he called a "conspiracy" aimed at weakening the United States and strengthening Russia.

"I will support him as a member of the Republican organization," Eisenhower replied. "I am not going to campaign for or give blanket endorsement to any man who does anything that I believe to be un-American in its methods and procedures."

And of Marshall, he said: "If he was not a perfect example of patriotism and a loyal servant of the United States, I never saw one. I have no patience with any man who can find in his record of service for this country anything to criticize."

Tactics Win Applause
Since the August statement, McCarthy won a landslide primary election victory which he called an endorsement by the people of his tactics to root subversives from government. His enemies charge that in his methods he has "smeared" innocent people without turning up a single Communist.

In Wisconsin, Eisenhower was expected to use his familiar shotgun technique of spraying the administration with criticism ranging from Korea to corruption. He used these tactics yesterday in Illinois and received the same warm welcomes that have marked his campaign since it started early last month.

Last night at Peoria—speaking in the Bradley university field house—he turned his fire against Democratic economic policies.

Eisenhower asserted that a "false prosperity" exists in this country—and that "whatever economic gains have been made since 1932 have been due, not to administration ingenuity, but to war or threat of war."

He argued the Democrats couldn't claim credit through economic planning for raising living standards, increasing wages, or doing away with unemployment.

"War, not the Fair Deal, brought about the end to unemployment," he said. "The legacy of war, not the Fair Deal, helped to sustain a high level of economic activity."

The general promised that a Republican administration would cut federal spending by 20 billion dollars within four years as the first step toward lower taxes.

"My goal," he said, "assuming that the cold war gets no worse, is to cut federal spending to something like 60 billion dollars within four years. Such a cut would eliminate the deficit in the budget, and would make way for a substantial tax reduction."

He said a GOP regime also would do away with "high-handed interference and regulation from Washington" with policies that would "give free play to the individual and curb the unjustified expansion of government."

Earlier in the day, the general had declared there was "no sense" in American soldiers carrying the burden of the fighting in Korea when millions of South Koreans could be trained to defend their country.

"That is a job for the Koreans," he said. "We do not want Asia to feel that the white man of the West is his enemy."

Four Fort Dix GI Escapers Caught; 9 Still At Large

FORT DIX, U. J. (AP)—Nine of 13 GI-prisoners who burrowed 25 feet to freedom from the Fort Dix Army stockade yesterday were still at large today.

Two of the soldier-escapes surrendered meekly to state police at a farm auction a few hours after the pre-dawn break and two were grabbed moments after stealing a car last night.

A three-state alarm is out for the others in Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey.

Post information officer Capt. Harry H. Lapham said it took the men about two weeks to dig their way to freedom with knives, forks, spoons and tin cans.

Jet Ace Saved In Yellow Sea

By ROBERT B. TUCKERMAN
SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Maj. Frederick C. Blesse, the top U. S. jet ace in Korea, bailed out of his F-86 Sabre jet today after shooting down a Russian-built MIG-15 over North Korea.

He was rescued from the Yellow Sea a few minutes later and returned safely to his base.

Blesse bagged one of three MIGs down today and ran his total to 10 kills, one probable and three damaged.

Runs Out of Gas
Blesse's plane ran out of gas en route to his home base. He was picked up by Lt. Harry D. Seigler of Tampa, Fla., pilot of an amphibian plane.

In addition to the three MIGs destroyed today, the U. S. Air Force reported four Red planes damaged.

On the ground, Chinese Reds stormed through the searing heat of Allied flame throwers and seized four hills in bloody hand to hand fighting last night and today. U. N. infantrymen recaptured one of the positions this afternoon.

The entire Western Front erupted in fierce fighting last night as the Reds hurled more than 1,000 troops against Allied positions.

Wire Hill Regained
U. S. Eighth Army headquarters said the Reds captured two advance positions south of the truce conference town of Panmunjom and a third hill north of Korangpo. A frontline officer said the Chinese seized another hill in the Panmunjom sector.

On the Central Front, South Korean infantrymen recaptured Wire Hill after days of bitter fighting. The height, east of the Pukhan River, was captured by Chinese Reds Monday.

Eleven B-29 Superforts from Japan and Okinawa last night dropped 100 tons of bombs on the Red supply center at Pongchong. The previously untouched target on the important west coast rail line is one of about 70 where civilians have been forewarned.

Two Hunters Killed In Headon Collision Near Standish, Mich.

STANDISH (AP)—Two partridge hunters were killed last night when a disabled truck slammed into their car in a head-on crash.

The dead were Hazen Hoskins, 44, the driver, and Virgil Chapman, 60, both of Montrose.

The men returning from hunting were driving two miles south of Standish on US-23 when a cattle truck driven by Henry Gierich, 46, of Turner appeared from the other direction.

Gierich's truck snapped a front spindle as it crossed a railroad track and careened out of control into the car.

Gierich, suffering a minor leg injury, escaped from his truck as it burst into flames.

air that hurt the ears of those on the mainland.

Minutes after the blast the Admiralty's coded message that the test was a success flashed from the flagship Campania, which was among the five British and 11 Australian ships taking part in the test.

Front Pages Recast
British morning newspapers hurriedly recast their front pages to splash the news that Britain at last had reached her first goal in her 4½ years of lone-wolf effort to catch up in the postwar atom race.

The London News Chronicle said Prime Minister Churchill was thinking not only of military security when he imposed an edict of absolute secrecy over the test.

"He believes Britain knows a trick or two which the Americans would like to know. He wants to use it as a trump card in Washington to settle a long-standing grievance," the paper said.

Americans Not Invited
Churchill has been openly irked by the fact that, after close wartime co-operation, Britain was shut out from U. S. atom information in 1946 by the McMahon Act banning the exchange of atomic information with foreign countries as a security measure.

No Americans were invited to the test. Two Australians and at least one Canadian represented the commonwealth at the scene. About 4,500 to 5,000 British and Australian Navy and Air Force men took part in the operation.

In Canberra, the Australian capital, there was speculation that the explosion was the first of a series of atomic tests in the area, possibly three in all.

Girls Can Judge Character Of Man By Hat He Wears

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Want to size up the men in your life?

You can judge their character by their hats, says James B. Lee, men's hat manufacturer of Danbury, Conn.

This can be a great help to the girl who is out shopping for a husband. A young man may put on his best manners for his best girl, but his taste in hats will give the key to his true personality.

There's the Joe College type, who still wears a pork pie hat, collegiate clothes and always wears his fraternity pin. He's an eternal sophomore, and isn't mature enough to be a good husband.

Good To Children

The lad who wears a green plush Tyrolean hat with a whisk-broom in the band for business occasions is a non-conformist, and probably difficult to live with.

The swain who goes in for wide-brimmed Western-type hats in light colors is something of an exhibitionist, but easy-going and open-handed. He's good husband material, if you don't want to exhibit him in a fashion show. Probably will be good to the children and go in for outdoor sports.

The type who wears sport shirts with blindfold bands probably holds himself in all year just so he can get rid of his inhibitions in the good old summer time. He's the mercurial type, who may be in the dumps one day and bubbling over with good cheer the next. Life with him at least won't be dull.

If he wears a derby, he's a rarity these days, and may be worth keeping. He's a boy who reverts to tradition and never ventures very far off the beaten path.

Knows Way Around

The man who wears a homburg is sure of himself, knows his way around, also inclines toward formality and is fussy about his clothes. But he'll be a good provider, make the decisions for the family and probably keep you on a pedestal. If you enjoy pedestals, grab him.

Lee feels that the most promising husband material is the young man who wears a conservative felt hat with narrow brim and tapered crown, teams it with a well-tailored business suit and a restrained tie. If one of these is on your list, rope him in with all speed.

But if he doesn't wear a hat at all, says this hat maker, who could be prejudiced on the point, send him home to mother. He'll never succeed in the world of business, because he doesn't care enough about appearances.

Ivy Priest Addresses Women On Issues Of Coming Election

A keen analysis of conditions of the day and a sincere appeal for the support of Dwight Eisenhower and his running mate, Richard Nixon, in the November election, were combined in the talk given to a gathering of Upper Peninsula women yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's parish hall by Ivy Priest of Bountiful, Utah, director of the Women's Division of the Republican National Committee.

"Women are to play a key, if not a deciding role, on the American political scene during the coming campaign," Mrs. Priest said in opening her talk. "In the first place there are 1 1/2 million more women voters than men. In the second place everywhere I go I meet women of all political affiliations who ask me, 'What can I do to help? I cannot stand any more of this.' This uprising, or rather demand, is apparent in every part of the country."

Mrs. Priest described in detail the scene at Republican National Headquarters in the hours following Nixon's reply to the people of the nation. "The response to the man in the second spot is a compliment to the man in the first spot," she declared. "People are saying, 'Here at last are men we can trust.'"

She expounded on the word "Free" which she said best described the two leading Republican candidates, and urged her listeners to think deeply on its meaning and the principles for which its letters stand, faith, responsibility, education and experience.

Communism, she described in the words of a chaplain returned from Korea and a woman who had escaped its rule as "the most ruthless force turned loose on the world since the day of the Huns."

Ferret Out Facts

"I think that the November election will prove conclusively that the American people can ferret out facts from all trimmings and all distortions," she continued, "and I believe that the women of America at the polls will once again establish that stability and integrity which spreads from the home into every phase of the national and international scene whether the issue be corruption in high places, excessive taxation, stifling restrictions and red tape or a bungling, inept, wasteful administration."

She elaborated on taxation and relief costs, commenting wryly that the value of the dollar has been cut to the point where "millions of wage earners instead of wondering how much money they have left at the end of the month now are wondering how much money they have left at the end of their money."

The federal government is taking so much in taxes today, roughly 80 per cent of the total cost of

Candidates Introduced

Nicky Traverse, Delta County Republican chairman, presided at the program, introducing the speaker, the Michigan Republican leaders with her, who spoke briefly, and Mrs. John H. Root, who was chairman of arrangements for the meeting. The Republican county candidates, Harold Gustafson of Ensign, candidate for state representative, Clifford Sutter, Gladstone, sheriff, Mary Constantineau, county clerk and register of deeds, Mrs. Max Tushak, treasurer, Attorney John H. Root, prosecuting attorney, and C. Arthur Anderson, coroner, were introduced.

The program closed with a demonstration of the visual education films being used in the campaign and Mrs. Traverse announced that the films and equipment are available for neighborhood gatherings or larger meetings.

Lunch was served after the program, the tables attractively decorated with fall flowers and tapers in silver candelabra. Mrs. A. E. Johnson and Mrs. Nathan Frenn of Bark River and Mrs. William Shepeck and Mrs. William A. LeMire of Escanaba poured.

Green School Area Has First Snow

Snow, enough to cover the ground with a thin mantle of white, fell in the vicinity of the Green School house early Thursday morning and remained on the ground most of the day.

A few flecks of snow were noted in the city. Thermometer readings of 34 were observed here with high, for a short time in the late fifties.

Council Rejects Water Works Bids

All bids on the proposed water rehabilitation project were rejected by the Manistique City council at a special meeting at the city hall Wednesday evening.

The bids had been opened at a special meeting Monday evening but no action was taken at that time because of the absence of three members of the council. All members but one were present Wednesday and with the aid of representatives of the Francis Engineering Company of Saginaw as advisors, all of the bids received careful consideration.

Reasons for rejection, it was explained, were that only one bid covered the entire project, the other four were restricted to such phases of the project, as the mains, construction of the pumping station or the storage tank. Members expressed themselves as desiring the project constructed by one responsible firm. Cost of certain items were regarded too high. The fact that none of the bidders were from this area, while not a cause for rejection, was mentioned as worthy of reconsideration.

A new call for bids is being made and Thursday, October 23, has been set as the time when they shall be opened and considered.

Leaves To Take Post Grad Course

Mrs. Dorothy Shipman, city school librarian, left Thursday afternoon for Ann Arbor, where she will take up graduate work in library science at the University of Michigan.

It was only last Monday that she received notice of her acceptance from the University's graduate school and she immediately made application for a leave of absence from the Manistique Board of Education. This has been granted for the year.

Mrs. Shipman, who received her B. A. degree from Wells College has been city school librarian for many years. Mrs. Nellie Raredon, assistant librarian, will assume Mrs. Shipman's duties during her absence and will be assisted by Mrs. Katharine LaBrasseur.

Chill Winds Fail To Spoil Outing

Leadens skies and chill winds with a few drizzles of rain thrown in for good measure, failed to spoil the day for Brownie Troop 7 at its outing at Harrison Beach Thursday morning. In fact the young people became all the more active and worked up fancy appetites for the lunch they took turns in preparing.

At the meeting two members of the Brownie troop were advanced to Girl Scouts. These were Connie Abrahamson and Betty Lou Briggs. Mrs. Vilas Young, leader of the Brownie group presented the girls to the Intermediate organization and Katherine Hall, on behalf of the new group, welcomed them.

AN ORDINANCE TO APPROVE AND ADOPT A DETAILED AND PRECISED PLAT OF THAT AREA BOUNDED BY FIFTH (5TH) AND EIGHTH (8TH) AVENUES SOUTH, AND THE CENTER LINE OF THE ALLEY WEST OF NINETEENTH STREET, AND TWENTY-THIRD (23RD) STREET SOUTH, AND TO PRESCRIBE REGULATIONS RESTRICTING THE ERECTION OF BUILDINGS OR STRUCTURES WITHIN THE AREA OF SAID PLAT, AND TO OTHERWISE LIMIT THE USE OF LAND THEREIN.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

When we talked with Hap Rondeau, sports editor of the Iron Mountain News, yesterday he gave us a little inside information about the Kingsford Flivvers. "I don't know what's wrong with Kingsford," he said, "but they just haven't clicked yet." The team is composed almost entirely of veterans from last year's team which was coached by Joe Milokna, Eskymo mentor. Well, if Kingsford is going to get hot in any game this season it will surely be Saturday against the Flivvers' former coach. It's a cinch they'd like nothing better than to hand the Eskymos a defeat.

But from what we've seen of Escanaba's practice sessions this week, the Eskymos are ready to go. The defensive line looked tough and alert against Kingsford's plays. And offensively the Escanaba team was operating in high gear. The Eskymos have come a long way since the season opened. Few of the players had seen much game action before this season, but they've picked up a lot of tricks in their first three starts. We've seen few high school teams operate with the poise and ability displayed by the Eskymos in their first half against Menominee Saturday night.

Fred Boddy, Eskymo quarterback, has lost none of the dexterity that marked him as one of the top basketball players in the Upper Peninsula last winter. When Ken Radick, Menominee coach, saw Boddy handling the ball off the T against the Maroons, he asked: "Where did that kid learn how to handle a football like that?" Boddy is a newcomer to the Escanaba gridiron. He played for St. Joe as a sophomore and was ineligible for football last season after transferring to Escanaba High. He graduates this year.

Boddy gave a good example of his deception in Wednesday afternoon's workout. Taking the ball from center, he spun and faked a pair of handoffs while drifting back into the slot. Tackle Dick Peterson broke through on defense and wrapped his arms around Boddy, then shoved the quarterback aside and dived for a running back. Boddy still had the ball but the entire defensive line was completely fooled.

It's that time of year again when the cross country boys make their brief appearance on the sports pages. Coach Henry Wylie's Eskymos are drilling daily for the Upper Peninsula cross country meet which will be staged between halves of the Escanaba-Iron Mountain football game here a week from Saturday. Eskymo Dick Casey, one of the U. P.'s top milers, will be a strong contender for the championship. So won the title last fall.

Jim Tretheway, Marquette Mining Journal sports scribe, says: "The Menominee-Escanaba high school grid series, which started back in 1897, is described as the oldest in the Upper Peninsula. Will someone provide proof that the Marquette-Ishpeming series began in 1896?"

Name Eskymo Starters For Saturday's Clash

Preparations in the Escanaba Eskymo grid camp reached a peak this afternoon with a final practice session for the clash with the Kingsford Flivvers here tomorrow at 2 p. m.

Coach Joe Milokna today named his starters for the Flivver game following a week of intense practice sessions.

Moving in on defense will be George Peterson, Dick Peterson, John Jensen, Con Michael, George Bartley and Judd Velland.

The Eskymos are in top physical condition and spirit is high, Coach Milokna reported today. The Eskymos are looking for their first victory of the season against Kingsford. The Eskys have lost two and tied one in three starts this year.

Kingsford will put a team of veterans on the field Saturday with nine lettermen in the starting lineup. All the Flivvers seeing action were on Milokna's team at Kingsford last season.

The Flivvers have a victory over Niagara and losses to Iron River, Stambaugh and Menominee to date.

Game officials will be Wallace Cameron of Gladstone, Norman Slough of Rapid River and Stan Sosnoski of Marquette.

The reserve teams of the two schools will meet at the Escanaba gridiron in a 12 noon clash.

ESKYMOS CO-CAPTAINS — Quarterback Fred Boddy, left, and guard Paul Davidson will be co-captains as the Escanaba Eskymos engage the Kingsford Flivvers here tomorrow afternoon. Davidson, linebacker and defensive signal-caller for Coach Joe Milokna's Eskymos, leads the club on defense. Boddy, a smooth, deceptive ball handler, guides the Eskymo T formation offense. (Daily Press Photos)

The St. Joe Trojans will be looking for their third straight victory Saturday afternoon at Norway, testing the Menominee Range Vikings in a 3 (EST) game. The surprising St. Joe team opened the season with a pair of losses to strong Gladstone and Stambaugh clubs before finding a scoring punch to defeat Bark River 38-7 and St. Norbert of De-Pere 14-13.

Coach Alan Ronberg's Norway eleven is expected to provide a stern test for the Trojans. The Vikes have won only one game in three starts but have lost to Iron Mountain, Stambaugh and Iron River, three of the strongest teams in the Menominee Range. The Norway victory was posted at the expense of Crystal Falls.

Coach Tom St. Germain will stick with his starting lineup which has veteran John Martinac at fullback, Bill Maycunich and Jim Gravelle at the halfback spots and Jerry McDonough at quarterback. In the line, Dick Cass and Bob Sendenburgh will be at ends, Dan Marsicek and Jim Cashin at tackles, Bob Bergeon and Harlon Pepin at guards and Tom Brien at center. Defensive starters are Bob Rademacher, Don LaChapelle and Gary Guertin.

The game at Norway is the first of four on the road that will close the 1952 Trojan grid season.

Last year St. Joe edged Norway 24-20 in a free-scoring contest at Memorial Field.

Bay de Noc Title Game Set Sunday At 'Stique Field

MANISTIQUE — Baseball fans of the Bay de Noc league will be privileged to see a little world's series of its own Sunday afternoon when Trenary and Manistique play the finale of a three game series to settle the league championship.

Manistique won the first game two weeks ago in a pitcher's duel at Trenary that gave Don Carlson a shade of a nod over George Brown the Trenary Caucasian Satchel Paige. Brown turned the tables 3 to 0 in a ten inning game at Manistique a week later.

Under ordinary circumstances the game should be played on neutral ground and Manistique was willing to concede the point, but Trenary players expressed themselves pleased with the fair treatment accorded them here and requested a return date. They stated also that they liked the baseball field and its facilities for handling the crowds.

Carlson and Brown will again be on the mound for their teams and with reasonable weather conditions look for one of the best games of the season.

State Golden Gloves Champ Wins Pro Debut

The 22-year old Rodgers weighed 138 pounds, as did Miller, for the lightweight bout staged at the Benton Harbor Armory.

POSTPONE SWIM HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Jo Furio, 31 has called off his attempt to swim the Catalina Channel at least until next Monday or Tuesday because his trainer suffered a heart attack.

Rams Will Get Gridiron Test

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The National Football League in general and the local fans in particular will find out a lot tonight about the unpredictable defending champion Los Angeles Rams.

The once spectacular Rams, struck by an internal coaching feud that cost Joe Stydahar his job and elevated Hampton Pool to the position just last Monday, tangle with the power laden Detroit Lions.

The game, starting at 8 p. m. (Pacific Time) tonight in Memorial Coliseum, is the leadoff battle of a long weekend of activity for all teams in the league.

Tonight's game here finds Detroit favored to hang another loss—the second league and fifth straight—on the Rams. Cleveland humiliated the champs, 27-7, last Sunday.

Physically, the Rams are far below par. At least six players are ailing, including the two pass-catching ends, Tommy Fears and Elroy (Crazylegs) Hirsch.

Alma Posts 26 To 6 Gridiron Victory

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Alma College, paced by the scoring of Bob Naru, tagged a 26-6 football loss on Grand Rapids Junior College last night.

Naru scored two touchdowns. The Scots lost their opener last week to Cedarville, O.

Alma scored 13 points in the second and fourth quarters. Doyle

Manistique Spirit High For Game At Munising Saturday

MANISTIQUE — Confidence runs high in the Emerald camp on the eve of Manistique's game at Munising Saturday afternoon.

The team came through its tussel with Newberry in Fine shape. There were no injuries beyond a few ordinary scratches and bruises and the way they pummeled the Newberry bunch and back slapping by local fans that has resulted, has raised the morale to the point of enthusiasm.

Coach Dick Bonifas, is seeing to it that the high spirits will not become over-confidence. He has drilled it into his young hopefuls that Munising has always risen to the occasion and that has often spelt disaster for Manistique when least expected.

He is proud, however, of the team—especially of its line which played magnificently at Newberry. The boys were excellent in both offense and defense and the work of Ekdahl was outstanding. Bertrand, Holmes and LaBarr also put on stellar performances.

One discouraging note is the loss of John Wedell. John suffered an appendix attack and will be out for the season.

Commenting on the opening of the hunting season, Coach Bonifas said: "We're out hunting too—for the fifth straight victory of the season."

Gavilan's Title Eyed By Graham

HAVANA (AP)—One of the great grudge fights of the year will decide the welterweight boxing title of the world here tomorrow night.

There's nothing personal between Billy Graham, 30, of New York, the challenger, and champion Kid Gavilan, 26, Havana Negro, but they do have a lot to say about close decisions in their three previous fights.

Officially, the score is two to one in Gavilan's favor, but there are many—Graham among them—who say the New Yorker should have had the title after their New York fight on Aug. 29, 1951.

Says Graham, "Tomorrow night I'm going to make the victory so obvious nobody can question it." Gavilan is a slight favorite. But even the Cubans have been impressed by Graham's powerful punching.

It will be Gavilan's fourth title defense.

The fight will be held at Havana's 45,000 seat baseball stadium, starting at 10 p. m. EST.

Sports Briefs

NEW YORK (AP)—Outfielder Larry Doby of the Cleveland Indians is not on the market.

"I would not trade Doby for any player in the American League," declared Hank Greenberg, Cleveland general manager, when asked about reports Doby might be traded.

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP)—Rocky Marciano, the new world's heavyweight champion, returned to his hometown to a hero's welcome Thursday and was greeted by a crowd estimated by police at upwards of 60,000.

McIntosh and Bob Hamilton scored the other Alma touchdowns.

McIntosh caught a 29 yard pass from Bill Mitchell and Hamilton scored on a 45 yard pass interception.

Braves Travel To Newberry Gridiron For Saturday Tilt

GLADSTONE — Seeking revenge for defeats of the past two years the Gladstone Braves travel to Newberry Saturday to clash with the Indians on their home field.

While Newberry hasn't appeared to be the terror it has been under Morley Fraser those who have watched them in a few games say they are not to be sold too short.

The only game that furnishes a comparison is that with Manistique and while on the basis of that game the Braves would appear to have an advantage, there are many who believe the teams are fairly well matched.

Tom Moreau will remain at right half replacing Norm Beauchamp, who sustained a broken wrist early in the Marquette game. Joe Corbiel, hard driving fullback will again be at fullback and it appears Dick Ducheny will have his work cutout to regain the spot when he recovers from an injury. Lowell LaPlant at the left half and Bob Sanford will be at quarterback.

Martin Becker and Francis Raito are the ends; Harold Goodyer and Duane Peterson the tackles, Capt. Jack Holm and Ed Bunno, guards and Rod Kelley, center.

Bark River Returns To Football Action

BARK RIVER—For the second time this season the Bark River Broncos will return to grid action after a two-week layoff caused by cancellation of a game.

Coach Paul Wiinikainen's Broncos entertain the Niagara Badgers here tomorrow afternoon at 2. Cancellation of the Negaunee St. Paul game last Saturday left the Broncos with an open date. Previously cancelled because of polio was a game against Rock.

The Broncos will be shooting for their second win in three starts. Bark River whipped Crystal Falls 20-6 and lost to St. Joe 38-7.

Horse Of Year Title At Stake

NEW YORK (AP)—The $75,000-added Jockey Club Gold Cup comes off tomorrow at Belmont Park and the 1952 "Horse of the Year" title could be decided in the tough two-mile grind.

It stacks up now as a three-horse battle between the Summer Handicap star, Charfran Stable's Crafty Admiral, and two colts scrapping for the 3-year-old crown—Calumet Farm's Mark-Ye-Well and Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' One Count.

A dozen horses were nominated for the 33rd running of the famed race first won by Man O' War in 1920, but only half a dozen are expected to go this time.

Crafty Admiral has rung up an impressive string of victories, including the Brooklyn Handicap, Aqueeduct and the Washington Park Handicap.

Mark-Ye-Well, sophomore star in Chicago, beat One Count for the mile and five eighths Lawrence Realization here Sept. 24, while One Count's most notable score was in the mile and one half Belmont Stakes last June.

Eddie Arcaro, who won the Gold Cup with Firethorn, Pavot, Citation and Hill Prince, will be after No. 5 aboard Mark-Ye-Well, while Eric Guerin is slated to ride Crafty Admiral. No rider is definite for One Count.

Yanks Trim Dodgers 7 To 1

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Anyway, it was a beautiful dream the Dodgers had while it lasted, and the feeling remains strong that they would give the Yankees a fit if Joe Black could pitch every day.

As it is, Manager Chuck Dressen's shocked athletes probably will do well to carry the series to six games. You do not recover easily from such a belaboring as Mickey Mantle, Billy Martin, Vic Raschi and their mates dealt out in the second game. It was brutal.

The score—7-1—was one-sided enough, but it was more the manner in which the American Leaguers went about the execution.

Martin Says He'll Never Fill Shoes Of DiMaggio

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Martin, the New York Yankees' newest home run hero, says he never will be able to fill Joe DiMaggio's shoes. But Billy's shoes are filling DiMaggio's old locker.

Martin, who batted in four runs yesterday with a single and three-run homer as the Yankees evened the World Series against Brooklyn with a 7-1 triumph, has DiMaggio's locker at the Yankee Stadium. The 24-year-old second baseman was given that coveted cubby hole because of his great admiration for the Clipper, which amounts almost to hero worship.

"I can never hope to fill Joe's shoes," the baby-faced Californian said with a happy grin, "they're much too big."

Ought To Hit 4th

It was suggested to the light-hitting infielder, who never has batted above his prowess as a slugger, that he ought to get Manager Casey Stengel to let him bat fourth.

"As a matter of fact," the quick-thinking Martin replied, "I did once. I told him he had everybody else in the cleanup spot at one time or another. How about me? Know what he answered? He said I was his second cleanup man—bating eighth."

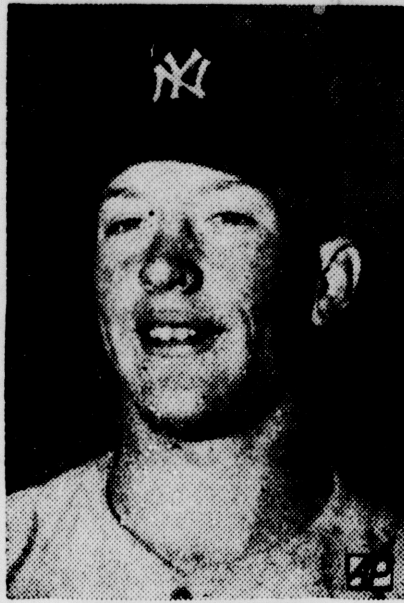

"I'm happy to be playing, though," he said sincerely. "I'm no home run hitter and I should be hitting eighth. I was trying for a single when I hit that homer, not to get one in the seats."

Martin recalled he had hit only four homers in his three seasons in the majors.

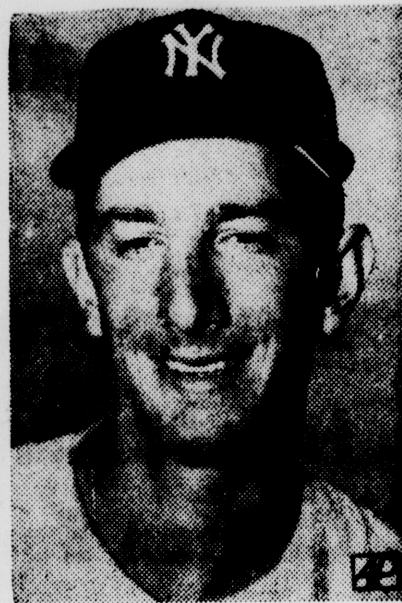

"I hit a homer in my very first game in the majors," he said. "I even remember the pitcher. His name was Sam Zoldak. I didn't hit any homers in 1951 and I hit only three this season."

Stengel's Protege

Martin is the apple of Stengel's eye. Old Case fell in love with him the first day the 19-year-old fledgling walked out on the field at Oakland in 1947 Stengel was managing the Acons then. He wasted no time negotiating his purchase ing young star on their side as Mantle, the 20-year-old wonder from Oklahoma, and that they were certain in the end to be betrayed

The picture could change again today, of course. Preacher Roe, the thin man from Ida, Ark., still is capable on occasion of pitching a whale of a game of ball, and the deep expanses of Yankee Stadium are ideal for an old timer who leans heavily upon his out-fielders.

Need Hits

But he will need some serious help at the plate, and the Brooklyn batters appeared to be mesmerized the last time we saw them. Easy Ed Lopat, the greatest of the dippy-doodlers, will do nothing calculated to bring them to.

Toward the end yesterday, Raschi was stomping on the carcass. A grim figure out there, he appeared determined to see to it that the Dodgers never did come back to life. In the eighth inning he made Roy Campanella, a nice fellow, duck for his life, and in the ninth, with nothing whatever at stake, he came near decapitating Gil Hodges.

That, though, is the way the Yankees do business. They want the other team to know who is boss.

Badger Rose Bowl Bid Gets Test On Saturday

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP)—October's first football Saturday promises some of the heaviest firing of the season to date, but overshadowing them all is a duel between Illinois and Wisconsin which could point the Badgers toward the Rose Bowl.

Illinois went to the Pasadena New Year's Day classic last time, and can't repeat under Big 10 conference rules.

But Wisconsin, rated about on a par, not since 1935 has either team beaten the other twice in a row, so Illinois won last year and that leaves it up to Wisconsin.

There is a sparkling intersectional schedule, but nowhere are there such big ones as in the Southwest Conference struggle, Colorado and Kansas meet in a Big Seven circuit tilt at Lawrence, and UCLA and Washington battle at Seattle in a Pacific Coast Conference game.

Michigan State, voted the nation's No. 1 team in the first AP poll this week, travels to Portland for a meeting with Oregon State. The far West also will see Army's rebuilding Cadets against Southern California at Los Angeles, while Michigan tests Stanford at Palo Alto. The Michigan-Stanford game is this week's national TV offering, beginning at 4:45 p.m., EST.

Another big one between teams thern Methodist at Dallas, Kentucky and Texas A & M at College Station, Washington State and Baylor at Waco and Louisiana State meeting Rice at Houston.

Although the accent is on inter-sectional warfare, the Wisconsin-Illinois affair at Madison isn't the only conference tussle of major importance. Arkansas and Texas Christian tee off at Fort Worth in a Southwest Conference struggle, Colorado and Kansas meet in a Big Seven circuit tilt at Lawrence, and UCLA and Washington battle at Seattle in a Pacific Coast Conference game.

Wrong Doctor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—William B. Elliot was taking his wife to a hospital for the birth of their child when the family car broke down. Elliot sighed with relief when a motorist who stopped identified himself as Dr. H. R. Johnson.

Mrs. Elliot had the baby in the car all right—but Dr. Johnson simply looked on helplessly.

Politics Teaches Ruark a Lesson

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—They are always talking about sermons in stones and the like. It would be apropos to say that this has been a very dirty political year. And if we can be thankful for anything it's that the general public has found an education in filth.
The acute interest in politics and in the administration of government for the last few years has done one thing—it has taught the voter more of the actual processes of government than any serene and gentlemanly unspooling of practice, of orderly political contest, might possibly have done.
The politician no longer emerges as a minor superhero, aloof from the rest of us. He is surrounded by less and less of an aura of mystery. His errors have been publicized. His meanness made known, his foibles broadcast, and his chicaneries dragged into the open. Especially noticeable have been the vast mistakes and myriad pettinesses of the mighty.

Sidestepping Issues
You and I go into the elections this year with a firm knowledge that thieves and opportunists have been heavily at work in Washington. We know this because investigations in Congress have smoked out the thieves and the opportunists and laid bare considerable of the impotencies and inefficiencies. We know about the graft and the pressures and the short cuts.

We watched the processes of Democracy at work during the conventions, when Sen. Taft tried to steal some delegates from Texas and Louisiana, and got knocked out of the nomination for his pains. We saw the controlled workings of nomination more clearly than I can remember, because television dragged them into your living room.

We saw some more when the Democrats gathered to scrap among themselves, like dogs over the contentious bone of civil rights. And we finally saw a politician's draft of a candidate who seemed honestly not to want the job. We have since watched the glib Mr. Stevenson duck and sidestep the painful past of his own party with a series of wisecracks. We know when he ducks, when he parries, when he avoids, because the record has been awfully clear for most of the last four years.

We have watched the embarrassing spectacle of candidates for high office declaring their personal finances, due to nation-wide suspicion directed at private slush funds and peculiar tax deals. There have been some names and dates and amounts contributed by gentlemen who seek political favor and intend to buy it if possible. There hasn't been too much of the pot calling the kettle black, because there's considerable fault on both sides.

Ambassador O'Dwyer
Mostly I have been impressed with several instances of deliberate dishonesty, of covering up of political contempt for the public on the Truman-Democratic side. We all remember Harry dismissing the allegations of Reds in government as a red herring. We have seen the mighty with foot firmly in mouth. We have seen deliberate avoidances of truth for political purposes.

You have seen the mayor of New York, Billy O'Dwyer, cynically awarded an ambassadorship literally to get him out of a town that was growing too hot to hold him. You have seen him deliberately debase his ambassadorship. You have seen him refuse to come home to testify on crime that involved his office—and you have seen the government in Washington refuse to withdraw him in face of grave charges.

You have seen the taxes rise and inflation grow despite the pointed-head opinions of the expert "economists." You have seen a political war fust and splutter for two years with no hope of end in sight. You have seen a rich and powerful nation heading to Hell in a Cadillac convertible, and the mink coat become the symbol of corruption. You have seen enough to insure a closer eye on the doings of your elected servants in the future, no matter whether it's Ike or Adlai at the final counting.

Number of Speech Defective Students At U-M Decreases

ANN ARBOR—The number of speech defective students admitted to the University of Michigan is decreasing, but a sizable group continues to appear each semester, results of a 10-year survey reveal.

Of some 33,339 freshmen and transfer students given speech examinations at the U-M Speech Clinic from 1941-51, some 3.85 per cent were found to have a speech difficulty.

Of these, about half were articulation cases, slightly over 25 per cent were stutterers and about 15 per cent had a voice disorder. The remainder were miscellaneous cases, such as cleft palate and foreign accent.

The report was prepared by D. E. Morley, associate professor of speech.

Purpose of the examinations, also given to students who entered the University this fall for the first time, is to find such persons and advise them as to what can be done to overcome their handicap. This may range from a suggestion of medical attention to enrolling in one of the special speech classes the University conducts.

Addy-Tobin
SENEY—Miss Geraldine Z. Addy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Hugh Addy, Detroit, and James Ronald Tobin, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde T. Tobin of Seney, former residents of Nahma, were married Sept. 18 at Guardian Angel Church by Father Anderson.

White flowers decorated the altar for the service. Mrs. Ossia Wagner, soloist, sang "Ave Maria" by Gounod and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother."

The bride wore white slipper satin and Chantilly lace, styled with two overskirts of net, and a fishtail overskirt and train of lace. She carried white roses and daisies, centered with an orchid.

Miss Alice M. Claessens, maid of honor, wore coral faille and carried talsman roses, and the bridesmaid, Mrs. Joseph Muhlenhammer, wore powder blue faille and carried yellow roses.
